

Scott Rubenstein

President – Pipeline Realty

Vice President – Texas Pipe & Supply

As head of Texas Pipe & Supply & Pipeline Realty's real estate operations, Scott Rubenstein combines the ability to plan, execute and deliver complex investment and development projects on time and on budget, achieving both entities number one goal of providing exceptional service to all of its clients.

Mr. Rubenstein began his career in Houston, Texas as a commercial real estate appraiser, gaining a knowledge of market value and real estate legal expertise, but later decided to become more directly involved in investment, development, leasing and property management.

Over 25 years ago, Mr. Rubenstein joined Texas Pipe and its family of companies, where he became experienced in site selection, construction, financing, lease negotiations, and property management. His work early on focused on corporate real estate needs, in addition to the development and construction of industrial, office and retail projects.

In 1999, Mr. Rubenstein started Pipeline Realty to further diversify the family's real estate holdings, focusing on the investment, development, construction, and management of commercial properties, in the Greater Houston area and around the country. Through in-house expertise in design, construction, leasing, and management, Pipeline has maintained its track record of providing exceptional service to its clients and the Texas Pipe family of companies.