1 Sustainable Finance Transparency

The European Union has introduced a series of legal measures (the primary one being SFDR) requiring firms that manage investment funds to provide transparency on how they integrate sustainability considerations into the investment process with respect to the investment funds they manage.

This Information Statement has been prepared for the purpose of meeting the website disclosure requirements in Article 10 of SFDR.

It is noted that the application of the regulatory technical standards ("RTS") to specify the details of the content, methodologies and presentation of the information to be disclosed under Article 10 of SFDR have been delayed and were not effective when the relevant disclosure obligations in SFDR become effective.

It is noted that the European Commission Letter has recommended that from the effective date of SFDR, firms are recommended to comply with the specific disclosure obligations in SFDR that are reliant on RTS on the basis of a high-level, principles-based approach.

We therefore seek to comply on a best efforts basis with the relevant disclosure obligations and issue this Information Statement as a means of achieving this objective.

It is expected that this Information Statement will be reviewed and updated once the relevant RTS come into effect, noting in particular, that the RTS are expected to contain details on the content, methodologies and presentation of the information to be disclosed and this could therefore require a revised approach to how we seek to meet the SFDR disclosure obligations.

The Information Statement may also be updated to take account of the Taxonomy Regulation.

sustainable impact of the fund
Information on the manner in which sustainability risks are integrated into the investment decision-making process	As part of the process to undertake appropriate due diligence on investments, the Investment Manager will generally conduct a level of research on each company or issuer. This may include a consideration of fundamental and quantitative elements such as financial position, revenue, capital structure etc. It may also involve qualitative and non-financial elements such as the company's approach and/or industry relative standing to ESG factors and consideration of Sustainability Risks. The Investment Manager considers that material ESG issues are business issues; when managed well, these factors can position a company for success. When managed poorly, they can lead to negative externalities that can result in reputational and financial risk. The Investment Manager integrates these ESG factors and this Sustainability Risk assessment into its investment research process, portfolio construction, and/or its risk management process – both initially and on an ongoing basis for the duration of the period the Master Fund holds an investment or pursues a particular investment strategy. In respect of the Funds, the Investment Manager's investment approach and decision-making processes are based on clearly defined investment objectives, investment policies, investment strategy, investment restrictions and risk management parameters, as contained in the relevant Supplement. Using both quantitative and qualitative processes, further details on which may be set out in the relevant Supplement, Sustainability Risk is identified, monitored and managed by the Investment Manager in the following manner: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Prior to acquiring investments on behalf of a Fund, the Investment Manager uses ESG metrics of third party data providers (“Data Providers”) in order to screen the relevant investment against Sustainability Risk and to identify whether it is vulnerable to such risk. This process incorporates applying both an exclusion policy (whereby potential investments are removed from the investment universe on the basis that they pose too great a Sustainability Risk to the Fund) and integration of additional ESG approaches, where relevant. - During the life of the investment, Sustainability Risk is monitored through the review of ESG data published by the issuer (where relevant) or selected Data Providers to determine whether the level of Sustainability Risk has changed since the initial assessment has been conducted. Where the Sustainability Risk associated with a particular investment has increased beyond the ESG risk appetite for the relevant Fund, where applicable, the Investment Manager will consider selling or reducing the Fund’s exposure to the relevant investment, taking into account the best interests of the Unitholders of the Fund.
Information on the results of the assessment of the likely impacts on sustainability risks	Factoring an assessment of the likely impact of Sustainability Risk into the investment design and decision making process has the potential to impact the returns of the Fund. Accordingly, a Sustainable Investment Fund may

on the returns of the Fund	perform differently relative to other comparable funds that do not promote environmental and/or social characteristics. For more details on how ESG factors are integrated into the investment process please refer to https://www.northerntrust.com/europe/what-we-do/investment-management/pooled-funds.
